

Business Good in Steel Producing Area, But New Deal's Prestige Declines

PITTSBURGH — Wherever you go in this, the industrial heart of the nation, you will find universal agreement that business is better. People knock on wood mentally when they say it, as if they were afraid the big bad wolf of the depression would pop out from around the corner the very next instant. But they do admit it.

Wherever you go, also, you will find universal agreement on another important point—that Roosevelt is slipping. And with him has slipped also the enthusiasms which once were pinned on the New Deal.

It is not merely a political catastrophe. It is a human tragedy. For the new light of hope which the President's name kindled in people's eyes one short year ago, was a hope born not of faith in party labels but in Roosevelt's promise of a genuine new deal.

New Deal

That light no longer kindles. Its disappearance is due chiefly to two factors:

1. The party label has been upmost Joe Guffey, Democratic Senator and spokesman of Pennsylvania, has brushed away all illusions on that point. His motto has been that of Jim Farley: "A job for every Democrat and a Democrat for every job." Merit, ability, service have mattered nothing to Joe.

2. The New Deal has turned out to be the Old Deal, dusted off and refurbished with a few new alphabetical agencies.

This, undoubtedly, is the opinion of the majority in the area around Pittsburgh and extends into western New York in Buffalo and Rochester. What they see is a growing cleavage, an increasing gap between two classes.

On one hand is the fact that one-fourth of the population of Allegheny County—the city of Pittsburgh and its suburbs—is on relief. Every day a total of $65,000 is spent for feeding them.

On the other hand stand the balance sheets of the big Pittsburgh companies; and more striking still are the figures of the Mellon fortune.

Mellon's Millions

These have been droned out day by day in the dull voice of H. M. Johnson, Mellon's confidential secretary, and not one of them has been missed by Mr. Mellon's townsmen.

On December 31, 1931—in the middle of the depression—their No. 1 citizen set his personal wealth at $97,603,005. This did not include $68,000,000 in Coalesced Company, the organization which the Government claims Mellon set up in order to reduce his income tax. The profits from this company were paid to him.

This did not include also the art collection, valued at $19,000,000, which was given to the Capital only a day or two before the income tax case opened.

Also it did not include the $14,000,000 given to his children, Paul and Ailsa, in 1927 in order to see what they could do with money.

Again, when he was appointed Ambassador to London, Mellon gave his two children $8,000,000. Next, just on the eve of sailing, he gave them another $5,300,000. Then from London he cabled them 200,000 shares of Gulf Oil stock worth $6,000,000 plus 45,000 shares of standard Car.

Again he telephoned from London and ordered $1,250,000 to be given to them.

In Pittsburgh, Mr. Mellon's income tax maneuvering at a time when he was charged with income tax collection has depreciated his personal stock to a low ebb.

Mellon's Guffey

Mr. Mellon, of course, had nothing to do with it.

MILITIA HELPS IN SEARCH FOR TWO BANDITS

Strong Force Trying to Find Man Identified as Escaped Killer

HOSTAGE IS MISSING

Reign of Terror Involves Entire State

JACKSON, Miss., March 29—A grim game of hide-and-seek was being staged throughout this section today as scores of officers and national guardsmen pressed a hunt for two bandits who with blazing guns staged a reign of terror in south Mississippi.

One of the bandits was tentatively identified as Raymond Hamilton, the southwest's public enemy No. 1. His companion was not identified.

Kidnaping at least six persons in their flight and changing cars frequently, the bandits fled into the swamps as officers closed in on them following the holdup of a bank at Prentiss, Miss.

Hostage Still Held

One of the hostages, M. E. Smith, apparently has not been released, officers said today. Smith, county farm agent of Jefferson Davis-co, was abducted by the bandit pair late yesterday and has not been seen since.

The bandits were last seen near Georgetown. They still held one hostage, believed to have been County Agent Smith.

The state militia was thrown into the hunt after the bandits, using three captives as shields, swooped down on a posse of fifteen men and disarmed them.

After robbing the bank at Prentiss, of $1,100 the two gunmen roared through several southern counties. Two persons were wounded in a half dozen gun battles fought with officers and possemen along the course of flight.

Six persons, including W. C. Thomas, cashier of the bank of Collins, Attorney E. Dent and Ralph Davis of Prentiss were abducted in the course of the zig-zag chase over the countryside.

Sheriff Ennis Crawford of Covington-co had his head creased by one of the bandit bullets. Mrs. Rodney Polk of Prentiss was shot in the arm when the bandits returned the fire of her father-in-law's rifle.

In answer to a request by Jefferson Davis-co authorities for militiamen Gov. Sennett Comer

British to Learn Intent of Soviet, Named Greatest Danger to Continent by Hitler

LONDON, March 29— Captain Anthony Eden is the most important young man in the world these twenty-four hours.

Mayfair meets middle Asia today and out of that meeting in Moscow's ancient Kremlin will come another of those decisions which go to make up the fate of Europe, which means the fate of the western world.

Back home in New York and Texas and Kansas it seems fantastic to couple Moscow with America but today when Eden, lord privy seal, meets Josef Stalin, boss of Russia, decisions will be made which ultimately may affect the lives of persons as far away as mid-west America is from central Russia.

To Learn Opinion

For today Britain is going to get its first eye-witness opinion of Red Russia and today official Britain is going to obtain its first authoritative impression of which is the worst menace for Europe—Stalin's red battalions or Hitler's field green troops.

Between these two military giants, Europe is today divided and Britain holds the balance. Everything depends upon which way Britain turns.

Hitler's argument as presented to Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Eden at Berlin is that the red army menaces the existence of civilization. Stalin's argument to Eden today is that Hitler's army is a real threat.

Hitler says the Red army means to wipe out Europe and plant the Red flag from Vladivostok to Marseilles. Stalin says the German army means to conquer the continent and plant the Swastika from Odessa to Nice.

According to all London accounts, Simon and Eden were painfully impressed by their inability to get a word in edgeways with Hitler. Publicly, the British foreign office denies the result of the Berlin meeting was utterly negative, but privately, word has gone around the British ministers were devastated by dimensions of the Germans demands and by the Germans' uncompromising hostility to the Soviet union.

Russia Partner

Britons don't like the Bolsheviks any more than the Germans do but Simon and Eden firmly believe no sort of European peace can be established without having Russia as a partner.

The German attitude, however, was that the other powers must combine against the Soviet union and refuse to enter any kind of collective agreement with her.

Now, for the first time since Bolsheviks slew the British attaché at Petrograd, for the first

ASSEMBLY MAY EXEMPT FOODS FROM NEW TAX

Solons to Consider Pleas Received From All Parts of Ohio

ASK DAVEY TO ACT

No Plan Voiced to Raise Revenue

COLUMBUS, Mar. 29—Governor Davey drafted a message to the Ohio legislature today advising it that the state tax commission will soon submit complete information on available tax sources together with estimated revenues from each.

He acted in response to a resolution adopted by the lower house, calling upon the governor to "fulfill your campaign promise" to give the legislature this information.

COLUMBUS, Mar. 29—Besieged on all sides with popular demands that sales of food be exempted from the retail sales tax, the Ohio legislature next week will give them consideration.

Chairman P. E. Ward of the House taxation committee, scheduled a hearing for next Wednesday night on the Boyd-Schlesier bill to lift the tax from the all food sales except those in restaurants.

Meanwhile, the House by adopting a resolution of Rep. Hugh R. Fuller (D) Warren, called upon Governor Davey to "fulfill your campaign pledge" to give the legislature immediately data on available sources of state revenue.

No Tax Advocated
Several weeks ago the governor submitted his biennial budget recommendations, calling for an increase of $8,700,000 in expenditures for the next two years, but did not accompany them with suggestions for raising the revenue.

Since the governor has indicated he considers it too early to pass new tax laws until the new sales tax is given more time to demonstrate how much it will yield, many legislators doubted he would give serious attention to the Fuller resolution.

But an independent movement in the legislature to attack the major tax problem appeared to be gaining momentum. Chairman Ward of the House tax group said he anticipated favorable action next Tuesday by the committee on his income tax proposal.

In its present form, he said, it

Hoskins had hoped to have Lee apprehended by now but this failing, he summoned Pyle before the grand jury to tell of his relations with the fugitive Lee.

Rotary-Anns Guests as Harris Talks on 'Women'

Prof. F. R. Harris, superintendent of the Greenfield schools who has addressed Circleville audiences on several occasions on his adventures and observations as a globe trotter, appeared before the Rotary club Thursday night in a new role, his remarks on the subject of "Women" being classed as one of the most humorous and witty addresses ever presented here on that particular subject.

The occasion was the dinner party given in honor of the Rotary-Anns at the New American hotel, the members being hosts to their wives and a number of guests. More than 60 persons were in attendance to enjoy the banquet and interesting program which followed.

Although a confirmed bachelor of middle-age, Mr. Harris handled his subject exceptionally well, his barbs of witicism being gallantly flavored with eloquent tributes to the fair sex that kept his audience in an uproar. While not posing as a humorist, Mr. Harris certainly gave evidence of possessing remarkable talent along this line, and a keen appreciation and knowledge of this particular subject. His closing advice to the Rotary-Anns was: "Love your husband, trust him and have faith in him—but watch him like a hawk."

President S. G. Rader presided at the meeting and, following the singing of a number of songs led by Karl Herrmann, he introduced new members and guests. Mack Sauer, editor of the Greenfield Republican, responded to his introduction with some brief but highly humorous remarks, closing with a couple of original poems.

The meeting was turned over to Dr. C. D. Phillips, chairman of the March entertainment committee, who presented Miss Virginia Harper, local pianist, in two splendid piano numbers. William Radcliff, a member of the entertainment committee, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Harris was accompanied to Circleville by Mr. Sauer and W. A. Gray, prominent insurance man, all members of the party being members of the Greenfield Rotary club.

UNIVERSAL TAX CAMPAIGN

A CAMPAIGN has been launched to present a constitutional amendment to the people of Ohio to provide for a universal income tax to supply all the needs for all branches of government, and the abolishment of all other present forms of taxation. A book written by Raymond J. Jeffreys of Cleveland and Dr. J. F. Conrad of Magnetic Springs outlines the details of the plan, which are quite interesting no matter what our individual of taxation may be.

The plan is offered as a permanent solution of the age-old tax dilemma by equitably distributing taxes over the shoulders of those who benefit most and are able to pay. The authors have made a great departure from our present hodgepodge method of innumerable forms of taxes and are proposing this one tax for all purposes.

Their solution to the problem is, first, to cut down the cost of government by eliminating the huge, unnecessary political machine forced upon us by a crooked patronage system, limit the money-spenders who so freely squander our money and who usually pay little or no taxes themselves; second, adopt a universal income tax plan whereby the load is distributed and people pay according to their benefits and ability.

Briefly, the plan is to eliminate all present forms of real estate tax, sales tax, personal tax, special levies, and extra tax on tobacco, liquor, gasoline, etc. Then a universal income tax would be placed on the total income of industry and individuals, the rate to be fixed according to a sliding scale. Thus every citizen would become a tax payer, no matter how rich or how poor. No exemptions would be allowed for federal employees, special professional classes, tax-free bonds, losses, depreciation and claims for dependencies.

The tax would be collected monthly instead of annually, and each individual or business would make a simple sworn statement of his gross income each month and pay the tax out of that month's income exactly in the same way he pays his light or gas bill.

In theory, the plan seems to be fair and equitable and a probable means of untangling our tax problems. Anyhow, we will all be given an opportunity to analyze it during the state-wide campaign and draw our own conclusions.

ENCOURAGING REPORT

TIMID AMERICANS who fear that their country is in a very bad way might be comforted by hearing the words of Nicholas Osinsky, head of the statistics bureau of the Soviet government.

Returning from a tour of America, Osinsky declares that the most powerful capitalistic system in the world is still standing on its feet in spite of the terrible losses of the depression.

Now it is worth remembering that if there is one man on earth who would have shouted the news from the housetops if he had seen signs of approaching collapse in the United States, it is this same Osinsky. But he didn't see any such signs.

Much as he hated to admit it, he had to report that things were going along pretty robustly.

Those of us who tend to get the jitters over the seemingly slowness of our recovery program might well take heart from that report.

We can't have another boom now. It takes time to grow a new crop of idiots who expect to get something for nothing.

Just when some people were getting encouragement from Post's failure to break transcontinental records by air and Sir Malcolm Campbell's failure to go 300 miles per hour, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad announces the fastest train service in the world.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

William P. Henderson, dean of law of Ohio Northern University, Ada, and Prof. Claude W. Pettit, of the same university, were the speakers at a banquet of Pickaway-co lawyers at the Boggs hotel. Guests were attorneys who graduated from Ohio Northern.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Charles May, vice president, Mrs. J. O. Eagleson; secretary, Miss Grace Clarke; treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Stephens; member-at-large, Miss Sadie Brunner.

Noah H. Spangler celebrated his 63rd birthday anniversary with a dinner-bridge at his home on W. High-st.

15 YEARS AGO

Thirty candidates of the Circleville lodge of Moose went to Columbus and were initiated into the second degree by the Rainbow Legion lodge, Loyal Order of Moose.

A McGuffey society was organized with 15 members. H. P. Folsom was elected temporary chairman and Mrs. E. F. Anderson. The object of the society was explained by J. W. Johnson. Judge E. A. Brown headed a committee to draft rules and regulations.

An overall advertising man visiting local dealers attracted quite a bit of attention. He was 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighed 425 pounds. It took 14 yards of denim to make the suit of overalls he was wearing.

25 YEARS AGO

A traffic check was made at the three dangerous railroad crossings in the city in three days 3088 adults and 493 children crossed the tracks. One day's traffic at the Main-st crossing included 46 trains, 2 hand cars, 329 adults, 68 children, 259 buggies, 61 wagons, 19 express wagons, 6 carriages, 23 automobiles and 26 bicycles.

Easter was observed with special programs in all the churches of the city. The Gopher band of Chillicothe led a parade of the colored Knights of Pythias from the union station to the A. M. E. church.

Market prices quoted were: Wheat $1.15, corn 56c, flour $7.20 a barrel, potatoes 55c, eggs 20c, butter 30c, chickens 15c a pound.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER

READ THIS FIRST:

Consuelo, a beautiful gypsy girl who longs to dance, is loved by the Dummy, a deaf mute, and Marcu. She despises her mother, Anica, but is fond of her father, Girtza. Marcu tempts Consuelo with a huge diamond and she agrees to marry him. But on her wedding day she boards a train for New York on the boards of which are riding Blackmire, theatrical producer; Doug, his secretary, and Bill, a friend. Consuelo had danced for them 10 days previously when their private car had been waiting on a railroad siding in town. Doug takes the gypsy into Stewart's car, Stewart telegraphs his publicity agent and also his friend, Louise, telling her not to meet the train. Consuelo throws her arms around him.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 21

THE GIRL was the first to move. Doug coughed.

"Sorry to interrupt this passionate love scene, Don Juan, but here's the reply from Dalstrom." He handed the wire to Stewart. As he turned he caught the girl under the chin. "You little passion flower, didn't I tell you to stop loving in public? Don't you realize I'm still a day and a night from home?"

"Listen, gypsy," Blackmire was all business now, "there will be a man to meet you in the station. He will ask you what you came to New York for and you are to tell him. He's planted a fellow there acting as a newsboy who will start to play the harmonica for you and you will dance there in the station. Dalstrom will take care of the rest. It's a peach of a gag. If you see me or Bill or Doug you are not to speak. Pretend not to know us, understand? It would not do to let on that we are arranging this, see? Under no circumstances are you to mention my name or recognize me if you see me. Dalstrom will take care of you. Do everything that he says. I'm depending on you, gypsy girl, to carry this out with you. Remember that I'm giving you this chance to dance."

"It is a serious business, this dancing?"

"Yes."

"I have not found it so. It is like the wind in the mountains that blows and the leaves on the trees dance and no one asks why. It is like the music that plays in the brooks—"

Her voice grew wistful. "I used to dance for him beside the brook. It always seemed that he understood my dream."

"The man you were going to marry?"

"No, this other one. I wonder if he will keep on painting me. I wonder if he will miss me—" The Dummy—kiss and forgive.

"You're in love with this man?"

"No."

"Listen, gypsy, I'm not doing all this just to have you get the idea one of these bright days that you'll pull out and go back to the gypsy camp. You know you can't do that, don't you?"

"Yes, I could not go back. My papa would beat me. Marcu would put his strong fingers about my throat and kill me—I think." She looked full at him. "I tell you this, white man, I shall not turn back until the dream within me has given me all that I ask of it. I shall be the greatest dancer New York has ever known and all the people of all the lands shall come and see me and bring gifts in their arms. Do you believe me?"

"I'd believe anything you told me," Stewart said after a moment of silence. "But, gypsy girl, you must promise me one thing. Promise me that if you are too lonesome for the trees and the brooks and for your gypsy man that you will come to me and not go running off."

"I am lonesome already—" she said.

For a while they looked at each other, then she began to sing. The words were in Rumanian and he did not understand that it was an old gypsy love song she sang to him. As she sang her eyes left him and she gazed out the window and the song died in her throat. The window pane, like a mirror, pictured a dancing girl. She watched this girl and a smile played on her lips. Now slowly she began to sing again and it was no longer a love song, but a song of conquest and her voice was full and strong. The words were in Rumanian and it was good he could not understand.

New York.
Noise. . . Confusion. . . Hurry. . . Crowding.

The first few days had passed like a strange nightmare to the girl, yet through the bewildering newness of it all she had kept her gypsy arrogance, her swagger that said, what is this to me? Only for a moment in the station had her confidence left her when she stood alone and saw Stewart leave and the publicity man had not yet come. Suspicion swept over her that this was his way of getting rid of her, that she would never see him again, that no other man would come. It was then that a cab driver made his offer of "Taxi" and not understanding, she nodded. The driver reached out to take her bundle of high heeled slippers wrapped in the shawl. The gypsy thought she was being robbed and began to scream at the top of her voice. In the midst of the crowd that gathered from the uproar, Dalstrom found her. At first she didn't catch on to his questions, then she understood.

She danced in the station and pedestrian traffic was blocked. The dance was abruptly ended when a policeman made an appearance and told her to move on. Consuelo had no love for any man in uniform, and especially not a policeman and told him so in most uncomplimentary terms.

From then on things began to happen. Whether or not it had been part of Dalstrom's plan is doubtful, but it reached the front pages all right. At any rate he made no move to pay her fine for disturbing the peace, blocking traffic, kicking, scratching and otherwise abusing a citizen of the law. And—

Dalstrom in a fever of haste got Goldberg and Blackmire together and they cooked up another gag. It was arranged that the gypsy was to dance for Goldberg and her dancing was good enough he would not only pay her fine, but give her a job and be responsible for her.

Front page again. Pictures of the fascinating looking gypsy girl. Pictures of Goldberg handing her a contract. Interviews of where the girl had come from, her life and the life of the camp. Poses of her looking up at the tall buildings. Stories of what she thought of the big hotel where Goldberg had domiciled her. All in all a million dollars worth of publicity, due to the clever brains of Dalstrom or to the way the thing had broken.

Now came the announcement that she would appear in the Folies. Tickets went like wild. The gypsy had stirred the imagination of blasé New York and it was ready to receive her with open arms if she lived up to the things which were said about her in the papers.

Consuelo was breathless with all this. If she so much as left the suite of rooms people crowded after her. Like a shadow at her elbow Dalstrom followed her. He kept her from dancing in the hotel lobby or on the streets and refused to let her tell fortunes. He procured a Swedish woman as a maid. The Swedish woman had been a masseuse. She stood almost six feet in her stockings. She towered like a mountain over the gypsy. She had shoulders like a man. She found the girl dangling her feet in the bath tub and splashing water.

She explained in her slow way that a bath tub was for other purposes. Consuelo didn't understand. She had never seen one before. A few minutes later she was stripped of her clothing and Ann was scrubbing her as she had never been scrubbed before, and Consuelo was sitting like a lamb and letting big Ann scrub her.

When Ann had finished she washed the long raven hair and the water was black with dirt and Consuelo was screaming with rage because the water would spoil her hair. But when it was dried and brushed she stood before the mirror admiring herself and saw that Ann was right. Her hair shone like rippling black satin, no longer dusty velvet.

Gypsy clothes were sent up to her. Skirts of louver silk that she had ever dreamed of; blouses and scarves; lingerie and pajamas and negligee and it was like fairyland to the girl. Dalstrom let her go to some of the shops with him and pictures were taken of her buying perfumes and jewelry and the papers printed all they could get about her.

Now almost for the first time the girl was alone. She was standing at the window looking down 30 stories onto the street that was a black line below her. As she watched, lights began to turn on and here and there the tiny glows competed against the waning light of day.

Away down the street she could just make out the lights that Dalstrom had told her were the theater where she would dance. She knew that there were pictures of her in front. As yet she had not been allowed to stop and look and the only glimpses she had had were when the taxi slowed down in traffic. Several mornings she had been taken up the alley into the back of the theater.

THE DEAD FAITH

She made a little shallow—hidden grave
The day Faith died;
Therein she laid it, heard the clod's sick fall,
And smiled aside—
"If less I ask," tear-blind, she mocked, "I may Be less denied."
She set a rose to blossom in her hair,
The day Faith died—
"Now glad," she said, "and free at last, I go,
And life is wide."
But through long nights she stared into the dark,
And knew she lied.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"There is no law west of the Pecos."

This saying, current during the settling of the Western part of the United States, had truth as well as circulation.

There was no law West of the Pecos, except the law of the rope and gun, and that law was administered strictly on a non-professional basis, in that there were no courts, no judges, and very few sheriffs.

Zane Grey's story, "West of the Pecos," which RKS-Radio has made into a starring vehicle for Richard Dix, which plays tonight and Saturday at the Cliftona, concerns the stirring days of that particular territory "west of the Pecos."

The Pecos River rises in New Mexico, flows through the Western section of Texas, forming the Eastern boundary of Pecos County, and empties into the Rio Grande in Valverde County.

The cast includes Martha Sleeper, Fred Kohler, Sleep 'n' eat, Louise Beavers, Russell Simpson and Maurice Black.

RAIN AND WORMS

(Washington C. H. Herald)

Following the heavy thunder shower early Monday morning, there were many thousands of angle worms on the sidewalks and on the surface of the ground. That caused many old timers to assert that the ground was wet to a considerable depth. The angle worms, they said only came out when the ground was thoroughly soaked. Others said that the angle worms came out when the surface of the earth was "tapped" by knocking with a stick or by the raindrops. So then we have conflicting opinions.

Anyway, the sidewalks Monday morning had a rather strange look. Some asserted—the more credulous ones who love the marvelous—that the worms were rained down, but we refuse to accept that explanation even though it is interesting.

Why are they called angle worms. Well, opinions differ on that, but a man by the name of Webster who, once upon a time, compiled a dictionary, says, because they are used by those who fish—"anglers"—and we are going to adopt Webster's definition. If we attempt to go beyond the angle worm definition we are certain to have an argument. Angle worms describes all the many kinds of worms used for bait.

How Intestinal Parasites Develop in Human Beings

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

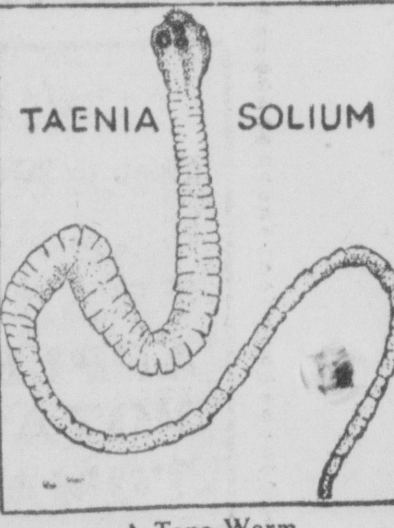

DISGUSTING as the idea of having a worm inside the body is, the life history of these parasites is extremely interesting. All of the tapeworms are bisexual (hermaphrodite) and the one animal can produce fertilized eggs which are capable of developing into a new individual. Each segment of a tapeworm, indeed, is mostly reproductive organs; it contains no digestive system, because the worm absorbs all its nutrition from the food of its host, predigested.

A human being infected with a tapeworm cannot infect another human being. The eggs must undergo development in another animal. There are pork and beef tapeworms (the latter by far the more common in the United States) and the cycle of development is about the same in each. The mature segments or mature eggs are thrust out from the human intestine and lying on the grass or in the drinking water, are taken in by the pig or cow. In the alimentary canal of the animal, the eggs develop into little embryo worms which get out into the blood vessels around the intestines and are carried to the animal's muscles. Here they form little cysts and develop into larval worms. Such meat is said to be "measly." When it is eaten in an incomplete state of cooking—that is, when the larvae are not killed—the larvae develop into mature worms in the new host's intestine.

The beef tapeworm may develop to a prodigious length—20 feet or over. The head is buried in the mucous membrane of the intestine and stays there by means of sucking discs or hooks. The pork tapeworm is called "taenia solium" because only one worm at a time develops in one person.

The symptoms of the presence of a tapeworm are very vague. The voracious appetite commonly ascribed to the association was not present in a large series of patients examined.

One drug may be used. A new one, hexylresorcinol, is effective and not poisonous to the host. In children, pumpkin seeds is an old and well-tried remedy.

A Tape Worm

But nervous indigestion and neurotic symptoms were common and cleared up on treatment. The diagnosis usually is made only when the patient notices that he has passed segments of a tapeworm.

Treatment is simple and effectual if carried out properly. There are many drugs that will kill a tapeworm without doing any harm to the body, in proper dosage. One of the best is piperazine sulphate, the active principle of pomegranate.

A French physician, Professor le Dantec, had a tapeworm of his own and studied the living segments that were passed, by putting them in bouillon cultures. When he added very dilute solutions of piperazine sulphate, he killed the segment.

The important thing is to expose the head of the worm, give the lethal drug, and then wash the worm, head and all, out of the intestine while it is still grossly. The head may be grossly, but not dead, and come to life and dig itself in again.

Tasty Main Course Fish Dishes

It is now becoming more possible to serve fish the year around due to greater speed and efficiency in transportation facilities.

Main course fish dishes may be served now and anytime you choose later in the year with these suggested recipes as a helpful guide.

Baked Eggs and Shrimp Patties

- 6 diced hard-boiled eggs
- 1 C. chopped and drained shrimp
- 1 C. cold mashed potatoes
- 1 Tbsp. grated onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 4 Tbsp. butter, melted

Combine all ingredients except two tablespoons butter. Chill. Shape into flat cakes. Place in a shallow greased baking dish and brush with remaining melted butter. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees). Makes 6 patties.

Stuffed Turban of Fish

Trim and coil fillets of fish around inside of a large sized buttered muffin ring. Fill center with any stuffing you desire, preferably one using mushrooms.

- 2 lbs. chopped celery
- 1/2 C. chopped mushrooms
- 1 Tbsp. chopped green pepper
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 1 chopped onion
- 2 C. soft bread crumbs

Cover with buttered paper and bake 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and continue baking until crumbs are brown.

Crabmeat Casserole

- 1 C. crabmeat, flaked
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 1 C. mushrooms, sliced or cut in pieces
- 1 Tbsp. flour
- 1/2 C. milk
- 1 C. canned peas
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 1 tsp. capers
- 1 C. cooked peas
- 1 tsp. chopped parsley
- 2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Melt butter and add mushrooms. Cook until tender. Remove and make sauce of butter, flour and cream. When thickened, remove from fire. Add crabmeat, mushrooms and other ingredients, folding egg whites in last. Place mixture in buttered casserole. Set in a pan of hot water and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Cooking School

VEAL AND MUSHROOM LOAF

- 2 pounds of veal ground
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1 cup sweet milk
- 1 egg
- 1 cup mushrooms
- Salt and pepper
- Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- Soak dry bread crumbs in milk
- Mix all ingredients together. Bake one hour at 300 degrees in oiled ring mold set in pan of hot water. Serve with or without Mushroom Sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons fat
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup mushrooms
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup mushroom liquor
- Salt and a dash of cayenne
- Melt fat, add flour, stir until creamy brown, then add liquids. Cook until thickened, add seasoning and mushrooms.

PEACH SALAD

Use one half of large canned peach. To a little of the juice add red coloring to make an attractive shade. Brush each peach so as to give it a rosy cheek. Under the hollow of each peach place a cheese ball rolled in nut meats. Arrange on lettuce leaves and serve with fresh mayonnaise.

TRILBY BARS

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cups quick oatmeal
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 3/4 cup shortening
- Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add oatmeal and brown sugar. Cut shortening in as for pastry but very finely. Put 1/2 of this mixture into pan 9x11 (pat- degrees). Serves 6 This same recipe is very successful using tuna fish instead of crabmeat.

Fish and Vegetable Pie

- 4 Tbsp. butter
- 4 Tbsp. flour
- 1/2 C. milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 C. pepper
- 1/2 C. cooked diced carrots
- 1 C. cooked peas
- 1/2 C. cooked flaked fish
- 2 Tbsp. grated onion
- Mashed potatoes

Melt butter, blend in flour, and add milk and seasonings. Cook until thick. Add vegetables and fish. Turn into a casserole. Cover top with mashed potatoes or a pastry crust. Brush with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned.

ting it down well. Cook 1 package of dates with 1 cup of water and 1 cup of brown sugar. Cool and spread over the mixture. Add remaining crumbs and pat down onto the date filling covering it completely. Bake in 350 degree oven about 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with whipped cream or cut in bars and serve as cookies. Cut while warm, but let remain in pan until cool.

MILLION DOLLAR CAKE

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1 pound unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup milk
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Blend shortening, sugar and egg yolks together, add melted chocolate. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together 6 times. Add alternately with milk. Fold in beaten egg whites. Put into 2 large greased layer cake pans. Bake in 350 degree oven about 35 minutes.

CHOCOLATE CREAM ICING

- 1 cup fat
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 1 1-3 box confectioner's sugar
- 1/4 pound unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Blend fat and sugar together, add salt, cream, melted chocolate and vanilla. Beat well and spread between layers and on top of cake. A most delicious cake and so named because some one said it tasted like a million dollars.

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES

Cut potatoes into strips 1/2 to 3/4 inch wide, cover with cold water and let stand at least 1/2 hour. When ready to fry drain thoroughly and pat dry on a towel. While potatoes are soaking get the frying kettle ready. Have the kettle a little more than half full of fat when melted. The average frying kettle will take about 2 to 2 1/2 pounds of solid shortening. When thermometer registers 395 degrees, add potatoes using a wire basket. If bread cube test is used add potatoes when the bread browns in 20 seconds. Let them brown until the desired shade of brown, about 8 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper, sprinkle with salt just before serving. If a lot of potatoes are to be fried an easy way to do is to partially fry the potatoes earlier in the day, taking them out of the fat when they just begin to brown. At dinner time re-heat the fat, add potatoes a basket full at a time and finish browning. Drain and salt generously. Done this way the potatoes are always very crisp. They are so good you had best prepare 3 potatoes for each person.

MINT DELIGHT

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 egg whites
- 1 pint whipping cream
- 40 drops peppermint extract
- green coloring
- Boil sugar and water until syrup

A MESSAGE FROM W. K. KELLOGG

EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share.

As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the American farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.

When we introduced the original Corn Flakes nearly thirty years ago they were spontaneously received. They were crisp and tasted good and they were ready to serve. Year by year we enlarged our factory, hired more workers, bought more premium corn from the farmers.

Two years before NRA we adopted a six-hour working day for our twenty-six hundred employees at good pay. This meant four shifts of six hours and enabled us to give employment to twenty-five per cent more people than in pre-depression times.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are enjoyed daily by millions of people—far more than any other ready-to-eat cereal on the market. We appreciate your preference and will try constantly to give you a better product at greater value. Today you get twice as much in Kellogg's at one-half the price you paid for corn flakes before the war, 1908 to 1914.

Meanwhile both package and product have been steadily improved. Special processes—exclusively our own—keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes oven-fresh and flavor-perfect right to your table. You can buy them at grocers anywhere with full confidence in their guaranteed purity and quality.

We make only one brand of Corn Flakes—Kellogg's—in the red-and-green package.

W. K. Kellogg

GOUGHAM GIVEN FIRST VIEW OF LOUIS

Young Negro to Perform Tonight Against Tough Foe In New York

DETROIT, March 29.—In the last 100 years there have been a long string of successful negro fighters from Molineux down the years through Peter Jackson, Joe Gans, Jack Johnson and Harry Wells.

Some of them, like Gans or Johnson, have held world championships but few have made important money and fewer still have kept any part of what they made.

Tonight another young negro makes his first important step toward the heavyweight throne when Louis, the Detroit thunderbolt, fights through the ropes to battle Fate Brown, before the critical eyes of a visiting delegation of New York sports writers and Mike Jacobs, promoter of the Twentieth century sporting club, all of whom came here for the sole purpose of turning thumbs up or down on Louis.

Must Satisfy
If Louis satisfies the critics tonight his fistic future is assured and he will be back on the way to fame and fortune.

It's a tough spot for a 20-year-old negro who has been out of the mat for less than a year to compete with western critics assure me he has everything he needs to make a champion.

He has had 17 professional fights and he's won them all. Thirteen of his victims fell before the dynamite he carries in either hand and one of them was able to extend him.

If Louis makes a good showing tonight against Brown, who is a tough humber and a hard man to handle, he and Primo Carnera will have won less than $200,000 in New York this coming summer.

If Louis is half the man they say he is, he should have little or no trouble in belting out Carnera and after that logically comes a fight with the champion.

Louis has been smartly handled. He has been kept in action against the right kind of opponents and off his record seems ready for the big time.

If he can handle Brown tonight, he probably will rest until the arena fight. New York is eager to see him go and if he has what it takes, he probably will make more money than any negro who ever drew on a boxing glove.

He's strictly at the "if" stage this morning, but he can wipe out at "if" and become a certainty by belting out Brown tonight.

ling to do with the New Deal. But Pittsburghers see no great political difference, except for party label, between him and the effulgent Joe Guffey.

For years Joe has played the Mellon game and voted the Democratic ticket. Today he has not changed. He campaigned for Roosevelt and the New Deal simultaneously is being credited with thwarting New Deal policy by preventing a labor election in the famous Weirton Steel Mills case.

In return for this, Joe got a healthy campaign contribution from the Weirton owners.

However George Earle, Pennsylvania's first Democratic governor in years, has turned out to be the one real asset to the Roosevelt Administration. After a campaign in which he touched a high water-mark for intellectual lethargy, Earle pulled himself together and is winning a reputation for dynamic honesty and ability.

He captured many Pittsburgh hearts when he withheld a $1,200,000 State grant from the University of Pittsburgh until he could investigate Chancellor Bowman's suppression of free speech.

Crusader Earle

Scorning Pittsburgh's sneaky Duquesne Club, Earle exercised his right of ex-officio membership of the Board of Trustees to tell the university authorities what he thought of them.

"If this democracy is to continue in America," he said, "there is nothing more important than freedom of speech and freedom of the press. If we're going to have Communism, it will result from this suppression."

"Our greatest danger is from reactionary private interests concealing the truth from the people and giving demagogues a chance to distort it."

George Earle is the one asset Roosevelt has in Pennsylvania. It will take many more of him if the New Deal is to repeat its record of 1934 and again capture this rock-ribbed home of Republicanism for the Democratic Party.

CORN AND HOG SIGN-UP HERE IS NEARING END

Farmers Must File Applications Saturday or Not At All, Agent Declares

All Pickaway-co farmers who wish to participate under the corn-hog reduction program must do so by Saturday, F. K. Blair, county agent, declared today. Final instructions from Washington D. C. set that day as the last one for the sign-up.

In addition to making applications this week, any changes in the present applications which have been signed should also be made this week. This particularly applies to any changes which might be made in the number of contracted acres. To date about 750 applications have been received. Since some of the applications cover two and in some instances three farms there is no way yet to compare the sign-up this year with that of a year ago. Mr. Blair said comparative figures as far as acreage is concerned would probably be available next week.

JUNIOR CLASS

tant and Mary Elizabeth Groce was perfectly fitted to the role she filled, Wargrim's daughter.

Well-Directed Play

The play was well-selected. Many school plays have been faulty in that too many persons took part. The Junior class play this year is interesting in that the parts are confined to eight persons.

Tonight's cast will include:

Hildeburn Jones as Jud Fenton, Dick Plum as Jimmy Samson, George Rader as Bob Mannion, Katherine Moore as Peggy Acton, Matilda Davis as Mrs. Nelson-Dodd, John Griffith as John Wargrim, Dorothy Beaty as Virgy Mannion and Marjorie Mader as Marcia Wargrim.

Music was furnished during the evening by the orchestra directed by Prof. C. F. Zaenglein.

The technical staff included Evelyn Wolfe, Ann Denman, Paul Weaver, Verneal Thomas, John McGinnis, Willard Friley, Eleanor Brown, Jane Littleton, Cecil Andrews, Wilma Welch, Betty Binkley, Jack White and Anne Thacher.

On Wednesday evening the play was presented at the veteran's hospital at Chillicothe.

COLUMBUS, Mar. 29—A plan will be inaugurated next week to relieve the consumer of the present 10 per cent sales tax on many small purchases, limiting the tax to 3 per cent as the legislature intended it should be.

As explained today by R. P. Bartholow, chief of the sales tax division, the excessive tax will be eliminated through the use of prepaid sales tax receipt cards. The meals you serve help keep the family fit. In many homes, common constipation develops as a result of insufficient "bulk" in the menu. This can be overcome by a delicious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this gentle natural food than to risk taking patent medicines. Continued use does not lower its effectiveness. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

ordered the adjutant general to mobilize a company of national guardsmen.

Highways Blocked

State highway crews were ordered out last night to aid possemen of several counties in blockading the roads surrounding a 50-mile guadrangle when it was learned the bandits were within the area.

Three women were arrested late yesterday as suspected accomplices of the bandits. They were being taken to Prentiss where Adj. Gen. Thomas J. Grayson and Maj. T. B. Birdson of the national guard and civil authorities were to question them. Adj. Gen. Grayson is in command of the national guard units assisting in the search for the bandits.

Identification of Hamilton was made by several officers who sighted the bandits during the chase and by several of the hostages.

Hamilton, a former associate of the late Clyde Barrow, chief of the notorious "Barrow gang," is under a death sentence in Texas. His criminal career extends back over a long period of years.

Fleeing from Texas, Hamilton was captured near Lansing, Mich., and returned to the Lone Star state where he received numerous prison sentences totaling several hundred years.

Delivered from Jail

He escaped from the state prison in a delivery believed to have been engineered from the outside by Barrow.

Hamilton was recaptured several months later and was sentenced to death for the slaying of a prison guard during his break for freedom. His second escape was from the death house while he was waiting execution.

Business Good in Steel Producing Area, But New Deal's Prestige Declines

PITTSBURGH — Wherever you go in this, the industrial heart of the nation, you will find universal agreement that business is better. People knock on wood mentally when they say it, as if they were afraid the big bad wolf of the depression would pop out from around the corner the very next instant. But they do admit it.

Wherever you go, also, you will find universal agreement on another important point—that Roosevelt is slipping. And with him has slipped also the enthusiasms which once were pinned on the New Deal.

It is not merely a political catastrophe. It is a human tragedy. For the new light of hope which the President's name kindled in people's eyes one short year ago, was a hope born not of faith in party labels but in Roosevelt's promise of a genuine new deal.

New Deal

That light no longer kindles. Its disappearance is due chiefly to two factors:

1. The party label has been uppermost Joe Guffey, Democratic Senator and spokesman of Pennsylvania, has brushed away all illusions on that point. His motto has been that of Jim Farley: "A job for every Democrat and a Democrat for every job." Merit, ability, service have mattered nothing to Joe.

2. The New Deal has turned out to be the Old Deal dusted off and refurbished with a few new alphabetical agencies. This, undoubtedly, is the opinion of the majority in the area around Pittsburgh and extends into western New York in Buffalo and Rochester. What they see is a growing cleavage, an increasing gap between two classes.

On one hand is the fact that one-fourth of the population of Allegheny County—the city of Pittsburgh and its suburbs—is on relief. Every day a total of $65,000 is spent for feeding them.

On the other hand stand the balance sheets of the big Pittsburgh companies; and more striking still are the figures of the Mellon fortune.

Mellon's Millions

These have been droned out day by day in the dull voice of H. M. Johnson, Mellon's confidential secretary, and not one of them has been missed by Mr. Mellon's townsmen.

On December 31, 1931—in the middle of the depression—their No. 1 citizen set his personal wealth at $97,603,005. This did not include $68,000,000 in Coalesced Company, the organization which the Government claims Mellon set up in order to reduce his income tax. The profits from this company were paid to him.

This did not include also the art collection, valued at $19,000,000, which was given to the Capital only a day or two before the income tax case opened.

Also it did not include the $14,000,000 given to his children, Paul and Alisa, in 1927 in order to see what they could do with money.

Again, when he was appointed Ambassador to London, Mellon gave his two children $8,000,000. Next, just on the eve of sailing, he gave them another $5,300,000. Then from London he cabled them 200,000 shares of Gulf Oil stock (worth $6,000,000) plus 45,000 shares of Standard Oil.

Again he telephoned from London and ordered $1,250,000 to be given to them.

In Pittsburgh, Mr. Mellon's income tax maneuvering at a time when he was charged with income tax collection has depreciated his personal stock to a low ebb.

Mellon's Guffey

Mr. Mellon, of course, had nothing to do with it.

MILITIA HELPS IN SEARCH FOR TWO BANDITS

Strong Force Trying to Find Man Identified as Escaped Killer

HOSTAGE IS MISSING

Reign of Terror Involves Entire State

JACKSON, Miss., March 29—A grim game of hide-and-seek was being staged throughout this section today as scores of officers and national guardsmen pressed a hunt for two bandits who with blazing guns staged a reign of terror in south Mississippi.

One of the bandits was tentatively identified as Raymond Hamilton, the southwest's public enemy No. 1. His companion was not identified.

Kidnaping at least six persons in their flight and changing cars frequently, the bandits fled into the swamps as officers closed in on them following the holdup of a bank at Prentiss, Miss.

Hostage Still Held

One of the hostages, M. E. Smith, apparently has not been released, officers said today. Smith, county farm agent of Jefferson Davis-co, was abducted by the bandit pair late yesterday and has not been seen since.

The bandits were last seen near Georgetown. They still held one hostage, believed to have been County Agent Smith.

The state militia was thrown into the hunt after the bandits, using three captives as shields, swooped down on a posse of fifteen men and disarmed them.

After robbing the bank at Prentiss, of $1,100 the two gunmen roared through several southern counties. Two persons were wounded in a half dozen gun battles fought with officers and possmen along the course of flight.

Six persons, including W. C. Thomas, cashier of the bank of Collins, Attorney E. Dent and Ralph Davis of Prentiss were abducted in the course of the zig-zag chase over the countryside.

Sheriff Ennis Crawford of Covington-co had his head creased by one of the bandit bullets. Mrs. Rodney Polk of Prentiss was shot in the arm when the bandits returned the fire of her father-in-law's rifle.

In answer to a request by Jefferson Davis-co authorities for militiamen Gov. Sennett Comer

Junior Class Comedy Wins Plaudits

Good, wholesome fun as produced by Ned Harden as the town idler and Ellen Clark as leader of the town's "uplift" society; a rapid-fire line of chatter by the town "waker-upper", Dick Plum; splendid portrayal by George Rader and Anne Vireborne of a couple in love under very adverse circumstances, and clever acting in important roles by Junior Ruff, Marvonne Wallace and Mary Elizabeth Groce made the Junior class play, "Take My Advice", a full evening's entertainment.

The play was presented to a nice-sized crowd Thursday evening and is being repeated tonight. Only two of these in Thursday's cast will appear in Friday's: Dick Plum and George Rader. The dramatic comedy, which carried a cleverly-handled theme the whole way through, was ably directed by Roy H. Bowen, high school instructor of dramatics. His diligent work with his capable cast was shown throughout the three-act play. Harden-Clark in Comedy. Ned Harden as Jud Fenton and Ellen Clark as Mrs. Nelson-Dodd, the oft-married uplifter, brought down the house, many, many times. Their ability to handle the roles assigned them was splendid. Plum,

British to Learn Intent of Soviet, Named Greatest Danger to Continent by Hitler

LONDON, March 29— Captain Anthony Eden is the most important young man in the world these twenty-four hours.

Mayfair meets middle Asia today and out of that meeting in Moscow's ancient Kremlin will come another of those decisions which go to make up the fate of Europe, which means the fate of the western world.

Back home in New York and Texas and Kansas it seems fantastic to couple Moscow with America but today when Eden, lord privy seal, meets Josef Stalin, boss of Russia, decisions will be made which ultimately may affect the lives of persons as far away as mid-west America is from central Russia.

To Learn Opinion

For today Britain is going to get its first eye-witness opinion of Red Russia and today official Britain is going to obtain its first authoritative impression of which is the worst menace for Europe—Stalin's red battalions or Hitler's field green troops.

Between these two military giants, Europe is today divided and Britain holds the balance. Everything depends upon which way Britain turns.

Hitler's argument as presented to Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Eden at Berlin is that the red army menaces the existence of civilization. Stalin's argument to Eden today is that Hitler's army is a real threat.

Hitler says the Red army means to wipe out Europe and plant the Red flag from Vladivostok to Marseilles. Stalin says the German army means to conquer the continent and plant the Swastika from Odessa to Nice.

According to all London accounts, Simon and Eden were painfully impressed by their inability to get a word in edgeways with Hitler. Publicly, the British foreign office denies the result of the Berlin meeting was utterly negative, but privately, word has gone around the British ministers were devastated by dimensions of the Germans' uncompromising hostility to the Soviet Union.

Russia Partner

Britons don't like the Bolsheviks any more than the Germans do but Simon and Eden firmly believe no sort of European peace can be established without having Russia as a partner.

The German attitude, however, was that the other powers must combine against the Soviet union and refuse to enter any kind of collective agreement with her.

Now, for the first time since Bolsheviks slew the British attaché at Petrograd, for the first

ASSEMBLY MAY EXEMPT FOODS FROM NEW TAX

Solons to Consider Pleas Received From All Parts of Ohio

ASK DAVEY TO ACT

No Plan Voiced to Raise Revenue

COLUMBUS, Mar. 29—Governor Davey drafted a message to the Ohio legislature today advising it that the state tax commission will soon submit complete information on available tax sources together with estimated revenues from each.

He acted in response to a resolution adopted by the lower house, calling upon the governor to "fulfill your campaign promise" to give the legislature this information.

COLUMBUS, Mar. 29—Besieged on all sides with popular demands that sales of food be exempted from the retail sales tax, the Ohio legislature next week will give them consideration.

Chairman P. E. Ward of the House taxation committee, scheduled a hearing for next Wednesday night on the Boyd-Schlesinger bill to lift the tax from the all food sales except those in restaurants.

Meanwhile, the House by adopting a resolution of Rep. Hugh E. Fuller (D) Warren, called upon Governor Davey to "fulfill your campaign pledge" to give the legislature immediately data on available sources of state revenue.

No Tax Advocated
Several weeks ago the governor submitted his financial budget recommendations, calling for an increase of $8,700,000 in expenditures for the next two years, but did not accompany them with suggestions for raising the revenue.

Since the governor has indicated he considers it too early to pass new tax laws until the new sales tax is given more time to demonstrate how much it will yield, many legislators doubted he would give serious attention to the Fuller resolution.

But an independent movement in the legislature to attack the major tax problem appeared to be gaining momentum. Chairman Ward of the House tax group said he anticipated favorable action next Tuesday by the committee on his income tax proposal.

In its present form, he said, it

Hoskins had hoped to have Lee apprehended by now but this failing, he summoned Pyle before the grand jury to tell of his relations with the fugitive Lee.

No further investigation will be made by the joint legislative committee which is conducting an independent probe, until next Tuesday morning, Chairman Robert F. Kaser (D) Sidney, announced.

PLAN TO ADD THOUSANDS TO U. S. ARMY DISCLOSED

NEW RECRUIT IDEA IS AIRED

30,000 Additional Men Before Winter Is Plan; Covered in Army Bill

(Copyright, 1935, by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Plans for a vast recruiting program to add thousands of men to army ranks after July 1 were being formed today by war department officials.

The program contemplates an addition of 15,000 men to the enlisted personnel between July and Sept. 30, and approximately 30,000 more between October and April, 1936.

Authorization to increase the enlisted strength from 118,750 to 135,000 men and to expand the national guard by 5,000 men is contained in the war department appropriation bill awaiting final action in the house.

Seek "Green" Men

To afford thorough military training to a maximum number, army officials will attempt to discourage reenlistments. As quickly as portions of the enlisted personnel return to civil life after their three years service new men can be recruited to their vacancies.

By this method, army officials gradually will build a large surplus of adequately trained civilians to supplement its standing army of 65,000.

"The recruiting will be done in an orderly process after July 1 when the appropriations bill becomes effective," a war department official said. "Although our plans are still in tentative form we hope to bring in the men at the rate of about 15,000 every three months."

Despite this increase, the United States will continue to lag behind other world powers. Latest figures show Russia has an army of 940,000; France, including colonial troops, 543,000; Germany, 500,000; Italy, 437,000; Japan, 265,000 and

PROF. SNYDER HONORED BY LUTHERAN CHOR

An enjoyable event of Thursday evening and one to be remembered by members of Trinity Lutheran church choir was the banquet they arranged in honor of Prof. Ellis Snyder, of the music department of Capital university, Columbus.

The affair was given in appreciation of Prof. Snyder's services as director of the choir for the past sixteen or seventeen years prior to his recent resignation.

A three course dinner was served at 7 o'clock to 50 members and guests at attractively appointed tables by committees under the chairmanship of Miss Katherine Alcott, kitchen, and Miss Martha Reid, dining room.

Following the dinner hour the choir president, Ed C. Ebert, presented Marion Sensenbrenner, who acted as toastmaster and cleverly introduced the various speakers.

Miss Mary Seal and Christian Schwarz, represented the ladies and gentlemen of the choir, respectively, in toasts in which they voiced their appreciation of Prof. Snyder's services.

George Griffith, member of the vestry, represented the congregation in his short talk in which he said that both choir members and congregation should feel honored to have enjoyed the services of such a talented musician.

Following Mr. Griffith's toast, Carl Leist, present director of the choir, was requested to lead the group in several songs. He made a few remarks and asked Prof. Snyder to lead the singing. Carl Leist, choir organist, was accompanist.

Dr. G. J. Troutman, senior pastor of the church, was the next speaker. He told how intimately he and Prof. Snyder had worked together in the local church stating that Prof. Snyder was born the same year that he accepted the pastorate of the church here, that he had baptized him as a child, confirmed him into the church as a youth, ordained him as a pastor and installed him as junior pastor of the local congregation. While junior pastor Rev. Snyder was also choir conductor.

After Dr. Troutman's interesting talk, Mr. Sensenbrenner in behalf of the choir presented Prof. Snyder with a gift, who then told how he had enjoyed working with the choir, which was the first one he had ever directed.

Several guests besides those mentioned were then presented by Mr. Ebert including Mrs. Snyder and Prof. Snyder's father, E. A. Snyder of Asheville, who gave a few remarks, also Mrs. Avery Eichinger of Columbus, a former member of the choir.

The evening was brought to a close with group singing.

Misses Harriett and Mary Marfield, E. Main-st., and sister, Mrs. Frank Dundore of Paoli, Pa., were luncheon guests, Friday, of Miss Virginia Nye of Chillicothe.

Rotary-Anns Guests as Harris Talks on 'Women'

Prof. F. R. Harris, superintendent of the Greenfield schools who has addressed Circleville audiences on several occasions on his adventures and observations as a globe trotter, appeared before the Rotary club Thursday night in a new role, his remarks on the subject of "Women" being classed as one of the most humorous and witty addresses ever presented here on that particular subject.

The occasion was the dinner party given in honor of the Rotary-Anns at the New American hotel, the members being hosts to their wives and a number of guests. More than 60 persons were in attendance to enjoy the banquet and interesting program which followed.

Although a confirmed bachelor

of middle-age, Mr. Harris handled his subject exceptionally well, his barbs of witicism being gallantly flavored with eloquent tributes to the fair sex that kept his audience in an uproar. While not posing as a humorist, Mr. Harris certainly gave evidence of possessing remarkable talent along this line, and a keen appreciation and knowledge of this particular subject. His closing advice to the Rotary-Anns was: "Love your husband, trust him and have faith in him—but watch him like a hawk."

President S. G. Rader presided at the meeting and, following the singing of a number of songs led by Karl Herrmann, he introduced new members and guests. Mack Sauer, editor of the Greenfield Republican, responded to his introduction with some humorous remarks, closing with a couple of original poems.

The meeting was turned over to Dr. C. D. Phillips, chairman of the March entertainment committee, who presented Miss Virginia Harper, local pianist, in two splendid piano numbers. William Radcliff, a member of the entertainment committee, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Harris was accompanied to Circleville by Mr. Sauer and W. A. Gray, prominent insurance man, all members of the party being members of the Greenfield Rotary club.

Tasty Main Course Fish Dishes

It is now becoming more possible to serve fish the year around due to greater speed and efficiency in transportation facilities.

Main course fish dishes may be served now and anytime you choose later in the year with these suggested recipes as a helpful guide.

Baked Eggs and Shrimp Patties

- 6 diced hard boiled eggs
- 1 C. chopped and drained shrimp
- 1 C. cold mashed potatoes
- 1 Tbsp. grated onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 4 Tbsp. butter, melted

Combine all ingredients except two tablespoons butter. Chill. Shape into flat cakes. Place in a shallow greased baking dish and brush with remaining melted butter. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven (350 degrees). Makes 6 patties.

Stuffed Turbot of Fish

Trim and coil fillets of fish around inside of a large sized buttered muffin ring. Fill center with any stuffing you desire, preferably one using mushrooms.

- 2 lbs. chopped celery
- 1/2 C. chopped mushrooms
- 1 Tbsp. chopped green pepper
- 1 Tbsp. butter
- 1 chopped onion
- 2 C. soft bread crumbs

Cover with buttered paper and bake 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and continue baking until crumbs are brown.

Crabmeat Casserole

- 1 C. crabmeat, flaked
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 1 C. mushrooms, sliced or cut in pieces
- 1 Tbsp. flour
- 1/2 C. milk
- 1 C. canned peas
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 1 tsp. capers
- 1 tsp. chopped parsley
- 2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Melt butter and add mushrooms. Cook until tender. Remove and make sauce of butter, flour and cream. When thickened, remove from fire. Add crabmeat, mushrooms and other ingredients, folding egg whites in last. Place mixture in buttered casserole. Set in a pan of hot water and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Recipes

As Used By
MRS. GEORGE O. THURN
At The Herald
Cooking School

VEAL AND MUSHROOM LOAF

- 2 pounds of veal ground
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1 cup sweet milk
- 1 egg
- 1 cup mushrooms
- Salt and pepper
- Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- Soak dry bread crumbs in milk
- Mix all ingredients together. Bake one hour at 300 degrees in oiled ring mold set in pan of hot water. Serve with or without Mushroom Sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons fat
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup mushrooms
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup mushroom liquor
- Salt and a dash of cayenne
- Melt fat, add flour, stir until creamy brown, then add liquids. Cook until thickened, add seasoning and mushrooms.

PEACH SALAD

Use one half of large canned peach. To a little of the juice add red coloring to make an attractive shade. Brush each peach so as to give it a rosy cheek. Under the hollow of each peach place a cheese ball rolled in nut meats. Arrange on lettuce leaves and serve with fresh mayonnaise.

TRILBY BARS

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cups quick oatmeal
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 3/4 cup shortening
- Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add oatmeal and brown sugar. Cut shortening in as for pastry but very finely. Put 1/2 of this mixture into pan 9x11 pat-degrees. Serves 6 This same recipe is very successful using tuna fish instead of crabmeat.

Fish and Vegetable Pie

- 4 Tbsp. butter
- 4 Tbsp. flour
- 1 1/2 C. milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 C. cooked diced carrots
- 1 C. cooked peas
- 1/2 C. cooked flaked fish
- 2 Tbsp. grated onion
- Blashed potatoes

Melt butter, blend in flour, and add milk and seasonings. Cook until thick. Add vegetables and fish. Turn into a casserole. Cover top with mashed potatoes or a pastry crust. Brush with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned.

ting it down well. Cook 1 package of dates with 1 cup of water and 1 cup of brown sugar. Cool and spread over the mixture. Add remaining crumbs and pat down onto the date filling covering it completely. Bake in 350 degree oven about 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with whipped cream or cut in bars and serve as cookies. Cut while warm, but let remain in pan until cool.

MILLION DOLLAR CAKE

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1 pound unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup milk
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Blend shortening, sugar and egg yolks together, add melted chocolate. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together 6 times. Add alternately with milk. Fold in beaten egg whites. Put into 2 large greased layer cake pans. Bake in 350 degree oven about 35 minutes.

CHOCOLATE CREAM ICING

- 1 cup fat
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 1-3 box confectioner's sugar
- 1/4 pound unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Blend fat and sugar together, add salt, cream, melted chocolate and vanilla. Beat well and spread between layers and on top of cake. A most delicious cake and so named because some one said it tasted like a million dollars.

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES

Cut potatoes into strips 1/2 to 3/4 inch wide, cover with cold water and let stand at least 1 1/2 hour. When ready to fry drain thoroughly and pat dry on a towel. While potatoes are soaking get the frying kettle ready. Have the kettle a little more than half full of fat when melted. The average frying kettle will take about 2 to 2 1/2 pounds of solid shortening. When thermometer registers 395 degrees, add potatoes, using a wire basket. If bread cube test is used add potatoes when the bread browns in 20 seconds. Let them brown until the desired shade of brown, about 8 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper, sprinkle with salt just before serving. If a lot of potatoes are to be fried an easy way to do is to partially fry the potatoes earlier in the day, taking them out of the fat when they just begin to brown. At dinner time re-heat the fat, add potatoes a basket full at a time and finish browning. Drain and salt generously. Done this way the potatoes are always very crisp. They are so good you had best prepare 3 potatoes for each person.

MINT DELIGHT

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 egg whites
- 1 pint whipping cream
- 10 drops peppermint extract
- green coloring
- Boil sugar and water until syrup

A MESSAGE FROM W. K. KELLOGG

EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share.

As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the American farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.

When we introduced the original Corn Flakes nearly thirty years ago they were spontaneously received. They were crisp and tasted good and they were ready to serve. Year by year we enlarged our factory, hired more workers, bought more premium corn from the farmers.

Two years before NRA we adopted a six-hour working day for our twenty-six hundred employees at good pay. This meant four shifts of six hours and enabled us to give employment to twenty-five per cent more people than in pre-depression times.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are enjoyed daily by millions of people—far more than any other ready-to-eat cereal on the market. We appreciate your preference and will try constantly to give you a better product at greater value. Today you get twice as much in Kellogg's at one-half the price you paid for corn flakes before the war, 1908 to 1914.

Meanwhile both package and product have been steadily improved. Special processes—exclusively our own—keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes oven-fresh and flavor-perfect right to your table. You can buy them at grocers anywhere with full confidence in their guaranteed purity and quality.

We make only one brand of Corn Flakes—Kellogg's—in the red-and-green package.

CORN AND HOG SIGN-UP HERE IS NEARING END

Farmers Must File Applications Saturday or Not At All, Agent Declares

All Pickaway-co farmers who wish to participate under the corn-hog reduction program must do so by Saturday, F. K. Blair, county agent, declared today. Final instructions from Washington D. C. set that day as the last one for the sign-up.

In addition to making applications this week, any changes in the present applications which have been signed should also be made this week. This particularly applies to any changes which might be made in the number of contracted acres. To date about 750 applications have been received. Since some of the applications cover two and in some instances three farms there is no way yet to compare the sign-up this year with that of a year ago. Mr. Blair said comparative figures as far as acreage is concerned would probably be available next week.

Tonight's cast will include:

Hildeburn Jones as Jud Fenton, Dick Plum as Jimmy Samson, George Rader as Bob Mannion, Katherine Moore as Peggy Acton, Matilda Davis as Mrs. Nelson-Dodd, John Griffith as John Wargrim, Dorothy Beaty as Virgy Mannion and Marjorie Mader as Marcia Wargrim.

Music was furnished during the evening by the orchestra directed by Prof. C. F. Zaenglein.

The technical staff included Evelyn Wolfe, Ann Denman, Paul Weaver, Verne Thomas, John McGinnis, Willard Friley, Eleanor Brown, Jane Littleton, Cecil Andrews, Wilma Welch, Betty Binkley, Jack White and Anne Thacher. On Wednesday evening the play was presented at the veteran's hospital at Chillicothe.

'TRUNK' MURDERER GETS LIFE TERM

HOWELL, Mich., March 29.— Clarence R. Frechette, the nation's first "airplane bandit," today will be taken to Michigan state prison at Jackson to spend the rest of his natural life at hard labor for the trunk murder of Robert Brown, wealthy Kalamazoo business man.

A jury of 10 men and 2 women found Frechette guilty of first degree murder last night after being out six hours.

Frechette's sentence wrote the final to a career of crime which culminated in Brown's death from two bullets on the outskirts of Howell, January 29.

Frechette killed Brown in a quarrel over Grace Curran, his red-headed sweetheart, packed Brown's body into the luggage-trunk of the latter's automobile and dashed widely across the country with his gruesome burden until arrested at the California-Nevada border.

MILITIA HELPS

ordered the adjutant general to mobilize a company of national guardsmen.

Highways Blocked
State highway crews were ordered out last night to aid possemen of several counties in blocking the roads surrounding a 50-mile quadrangle when it was learned the bandits were within the area.

Three women were arrested late yesterday as suspected accomplices of the bandits. They were being taken to Prentiss where Adj. Gen. Thomas J. Grayson and Maj. T. B. Birdsong of the national guard and civil authorities were to question them. Adj. Gen. Grayson is in command of the national guard units assisting in the search for the bandits.

Identification of Hamilton was made by several officers who sighted the bandits during the chase and by several of the hostages.

Hamilton, a former associate of the late Clyde Barrow, chief of the notorious "Barrow gang," is under a death sentence in Texas. His criminal career extends back over a long period of years.

Fleeing from Texas, Hamilton was captured near Lansing, Mich., and returned to the Lone Star state where he received numerous prison sentences totaling several hundred years.

Delivered from Jail
He escaped from the state prison in a delivery believed to have been engineered from the outside by Barrow.

Hamilton was recaptured several months later and was sentenced to death for the slaying of a prison guard during his break for freedom. His second escape was from the death house while he was waiting execution.

PROSECUTOR IS GANG GUN TARGET

Thomas J. Courtney

Chicago gang warfare assumed a new offensive with "the law" as an objective when eight bullets were fired at Cook county State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney as he rode home with his bodyguard, chauffeur and Alderman Harold E. Perry. Shots were fired at close range from an automobile that drew alongside Courtney, and one of the bullet holes which struck a metal bar on a ventilating window, are pictured. Had the bullet struck the window in such either way, Courtney would have been slain.
